

SATURDAY EVEN'G, APRIL 20, 1901.

THE proposition of the British government to increase its revenue to meet extraordinary requirements by imposing a duty on sugar must not be considered an abandonment of its fiscal policy. It is not many years since the sugar duties were abolished. The enormous consumption of sugar in England makes that commodity, as it is in the United States, one of the most fruitful objects of customs taxation. This fact has always been recognized by the friends of free trade. No discrimination is made either in favor of the products of British colonies or against the bounty-paying countries of Europe. Bounty-free beet sugar from the continent has been admitted on the same terms as muscovado from the British West Indies or "serop" from Java or jaggery from British India. Nor is there anything in the plan that would give comfort to British refiners. If the proposed British sugar duties be protective the corresponding American tariff taxes are oppressive to the last degree. The less protectionists shall say about the proposed "protective" sugar duties of Great Britain the better for their cause; any arguments based on that foundation would cut like a two-edged sword, and would prove most perilous to the wielder thereof. The proposed export duty of one shilling per ton on coal may be dismissed with the remark that it would be the very opposite of a protection measure; for the theory of protection would require the payment of bounties rather than the levy of a tax on exports.

UNITED STATES Senator Tillman, of South Carolina, colleague of Senator McLaughlin, comments vigorously upon Mr. McLaughlin's speech Thursday night at Charlotte, N. C., in which Mr. McLaughlin advised the southern democracy to break away from the old lines. Mr. Tillman says: "Senator McLaughlin's speech is contradictory, full of paradoxes and seems intended to pave the way for the Senator's passage into the republican camp. It may excite surprise outside of this State, but the only thing which astonishes us here is his continued effort to pose as a democrat." The attempt to win the southern democracy over to the advocacy of protection could not have been undertaken at a more unpromising time. The drift of the republican party itself is away from protection. The iron, cotton and oil-producing South needs the open rather than the shut door. Senator McLaughlin has surely carried his high tariff egotism to the wrong market; his flop is a foredoomed failure. Republican leaders realize this, but at the same time it will take a great many McLaughlins to convince them the South is ripe for turning a political somersault.

AGUINALDO's address to his people shows that the former leader of the Filipinos has reached the conclusion that peace is now the best thing for them and that further resistance to the United States is useless. Had he not been captured it would have taken the American forces a longer time than this to have changed his views so as to become an apostle of peace. Now a prisoner in his own country, his poorly equipped soldiers opposed by overwhelming odds of trained forces with modern arms and he betrayed his own people for gold he has come to the conclusion that a further sacrifice of blood is useless and recommends submission. His advice to his former allies may prove a potent factor in bringing about the end of the revolution and the return of all the belligerents to the pursuit of peace.

YESTERDAY was a remarkable day in the New York stock market. Many experienced observers called it the most remarkable day in the history of the exchange. The aggregate sale of securities reached 2,193,200 shares, which is the largest single day's business on record. All stocks seem to be in demand at advancing prices, and the prediction of several years ago that by reason of the high price of stocks lands and houses would advance in value seems far off from materializing.

COPYING after his superiors, Captain Lucien Young of the navy sent to prison without trial, for 60 and 30 days respectively, the director and editor of a Havana newspaper which published an article which Captain Young said was a libel on himself. The prisoners were soon released, but the arbitrary act is another reminder to the Cubans that they are treated as subjects and will add to the suspicion with which they come to regard people of the United States.

ADMIRAL CANEVARO, of Italy, formerly Italian minister of foreign affairs, says the future of civilization will require European nations to unite against America, Africa and Asia. The London Spectator says this view corresponds with that of the Austro-Hungarian foreign minister. From this it would appear that foreign diplomats either fear or have a poor opinion of Americans.

FROM WASHINGTON.

(Correspondence of the Alexandria Gazette.)

Washington, April 20.

The comptroller of the currency this morning announced that the doors of the First National Bank, of Vancouver, Washington, have been closed under instructions from the comptroller, upon recommendation of National Bank Examiner, J. W. Maxwell, and advice from him that during the course of his examination of the bank he had discovered a shortage of about $81,000. Examiner Maxwell has been placed in charge as temporary receiver.

The revision of the Philippine and Cuban tariffs is still under consideration at the War Department, but may not be the subject of definite action for several months, as there is a disposition to delay the announcement of the revised tariffs until after the decision of the Supreme Court of the United States in the Insular cases.

State Department officials, including Secretary Hay, are disgusted with Minister Loomis, who has apparently talked to everybody who would listen all the way from Venezuela to New York. They were and are still inclined to stand by him, but he will be told bluntly that his conduct has embarrassed the State Department. It is not likely that Loomis will go back to Venezuela. The failure of Minister Loomis, who has been in New York for three or four days, to report to the State Department is also a source of considerable mystery and unfavorable criticism among the officials here. Mr. Loomis has already spent three days in New York and the State Department is as yet absolutely without any information from him as to when to expect him in Washington.

Aguinaldo's proclamation, it is hoped by the administration, will go toward effecting the pacification of the Philippines. Steps have been taken to secure its wide publication through all of the islands and it is hoped that the next ten days will witness the surrender of the active insurgents still in the field. The terms offered in the amnesty proclamation expire May 1, and Filipinos who fail to surrender within the next ten days will be deprived of all rights and privileges of citizenship. There are only three Filipino general officers of any importance still in the field. They are Alejandro, Tio and Calles. The effect of the issuance of the document upon Aguinaldo himself will be to restore him to practically full liberty. He will be kept under surveillance for a time until he shall have had an opportunity to demonstrate his sincerity. If the administration believes that he possesses executive ability that may be of value to the civil government that is to be established July 1, he will be given an office, probably as governor of one of the provinces.

It was announced in New York today that Maurice L. Muhlenberg has resigned his position as deputy assistant treasurer of the United States, to take effect April 30, and will become president of the Mutual Mercantile Agency.

The President today appointed Wm. M. Jenkins to be governor of Oklahoma Territory and James W. Reynolds to be secretary of the Territory of New Mexico.

Plans to modernize the battleships Oregon, Indiana and Massachusetts are now being considered by the Navy Department. Under the proposed plan it is intended to remove the four quadrilateral turrets accommodating two 8-inch guns each and to install two elliptical 8-inch turrets on top of the 13-inch turrets. The new battery arrangement will permit the addition of a formidable row of 6-inch or 5-inch guns.

The minister in Peking has proposed from the discussion of the indemnities to be demanded from China and are now trying to figure out the ways and means by which China is to raise the money to pay them. This government is of the opinion that $200,000,000 is the outside limit of what China should be asked to pay.

Annapolis, Md., is the most expensive port of entry in the United States. Latest statistics show that it cost the government $951 to collect $1 the aggregate receipts of that port during the last fiscal year. Next to Annapolis is Rock Island, Ill., where it cost $352 to collect 50 cents.

Benj. J. Hamm, of Chicago, who tried to corner the turkey market of that city in 1898 and in connection with this attempt, was convicted of using the mails to defraud and was sentenced to two years in jail, was pardoned by the President today. In November 1900 Hamm was sent to the Government Hospital for the Insane in this city where he will remain till cured. He has served all but two months of his sentence and is recovering.

Solicitor General Richards today filed his reply to the motion of Judge Jeremiah Wilson, counsel for Oberlin Carter, to have the brief of the government stricken from the files of the Supreme Court of the United States as "irrelevant and scandalous." The reply says the only feature which entitled it to notice was its audacity.

Lord Pauncefote, the British Ambassador, called at the White House this morning, to present his new credentials from King Edward.

G. B. Davis, a messenger of the Southern Express Co., was convicted here today of embezzling $1,000 from the company, while he was travelling in the company's employ between Atlanta, Ga., and Richmond on July 5, 1899.

FROM CHINA.—The Shanghai correspondent of the London Morning Post, telegraphing under date of Thursday, says that, in view of the resolution of the Germans and French to drive the Chinese troops from Chi-Li into Shansi province, Li Hung Chang memorialized the Emperor, with the result that his Majesty issued an edict ordering General Liu to withdraw his troops over the border.

The Emperor simultaneously telegraphed to Li Hung Chang instructing him to inform the Count von Waldersee of the edict and to request him to send foreign troops into Shansi. Nevertheless, it is believed that the Germans and perhaps the French will occupy Tientsin, the capital of Shansi.

The correspondent adds that railway communication between Vladivostok and Port Arthur is practically complete and that Russia is thus enabled to throw troops into Manchuria without using the sea.

The strike of the silk weavers at Frank & Dugan's silk mill at Paterson, N. J., has taken a new turn. An injunction was served on the strikers this morning restraining them from serenading non-union employees and enjoining them to keep kids away from the vicinity of the mill.

At Frankfurt, Ky., today, the jury in the case of Garnett D. Ripley, charged with complicity in the murder of Gov. Goebel, returned a verdict of not guilty.

The pension of $3 a month just granted to Mrs. John C. Beckridge, widow of the former Vice-President of the United States, carries arrears amounting to $1,350. Mrs. Beckridge is 76 years old. Mr. Beckridge was major of the Third Kentucky Volunteers in the Mexican War.

VIRGINIA NEWS.

Rev. Wayland F. Dunaway was yesterday selected to represent Lancaster and Richmond counties in the Virginia constitutional convention.

Mrs. Jane Hynson died Tuesday morning at her home, near Nields's store, in King George county, after an illness of an hour or two, of a congestive chill. She was a daughter of Capt. John Redmond.

The Petersburg democratic city executive committee met last night and decided Alex. Hamilton and ex-Governor William E. Cameron to be the candidates for the city at the next constitutional convention. No other names were presented.

The Richmond board of aldermen, with only two opposing votes, last night accepted the offer of Mr. Andrew Carnegie to give $100,000 to establish a public library in Richmond, the city to appropriate $10,000 annually to the maintenance of the library.

Mr. Thomas L. Alfriend, one of the most prominent and successful business men of Richmond, dropped dead at his home on Laurel street yesterday. He had been in apparently good health and had just eaten dinner. Mr. Alfriend was about 60 years old and was a Confederate veteran.

Senator Martin, who was in Richmond yesterday, said he was confident that Mr. Swanson would be nominated for governor. "Reports from all sections of the State," he said, "scarcely leave any doubt that public sentiment favors the nomination of Mr. Swanson as the democratic nominee for governor."

The following pensions have been granted by Virginia: Increase, Dennis Lynn, National Soldiers' Home, Elizabeth City, $8; Stephen Natta, National Military Home, Elizabeth City, $10. Original widows, $60, special, accorded $85.—Phillis J. Wiley, Alexandria, $88. War with Spain (original)—William H. Tallaferrro, Fredericksburg, $90.

It is now said that the Jefferson Hotel in Richmond may be rebuilt, not by the owners, but possibly by the insurance companies. Those who had risks on the house are, it is said, getting estimates from builders with a view of restoring the hotel. The companies claim that they can put the building back in the condition it was before the fire for the amount of the insurance, $668,000.

The Rev. W. H. Marsh, a Methodist minister of Remington, Fauquier county, eloped on Tuesday of this week with Miss Ruby Thompson, the beautiful seventeen-year-old daughter of Frank Thompson, of Rockville, Md., where they were married on the afternoon of that day.

The couple left Remington presumably for a drive and none was any the wiser until the telegram was received announcing the marriage. It is said that the parents' opposition was due to some personal differences with the groom. Mr. Marsh is a widower with two children.

THE COURTHOUSE PORTRAITS. The committee in charge of the matter, consisting of Messrs. Moore and Thornton and Mrs. Willard, has announced the following programme:

The ceremonies in connection with placing in the courthouse portraits of the men who have been conspicuous in the history of the county will take place Monday, May 20, at 10:30 o'clock a. m., at which time the county court (Judge Love presiding) and the circuit court (Judge Nicol presiding—a special term) will be in session. In presenting the portraits addresses will be made by the following:

The people of this county and of the city and county of Alexandria, which were a part of Fairfax county in the days of Washington and Mason, are cordially invited to be present.—[Fairfax Herald.]

TO-DAY'S TELEGRAPHIC NEWS.

Disastrous Flood Expected.

Pittsburg, Pa., April 20.—There were 21 feet of water in the Allegheny and 12 feet in the Monongahela rivers at 10 o'clock this morning and was rising at the rate of one foot per hour. A flood equalling that of 1884 is expected to reach the city in a few days.

The signal service announced by telegram that the river was expected to reach the city from all directions. An almost constant rain has been falling for 36 hours, with no prospect for an early cessation. Railroad and street car traffic is already suspended on a number of lines on account of washouts and high water. A landslide of glacial boulders has just been reported from Gratton, blocking the main line of the Pennsylvania.

Turtle creek on the rampage and many places contiguous to it are under water. The Westernhouse air-brake plant has been brought to a standstill and 3,000 men are idle. Heavy losses will ensue. Railroad property in every direction is suffering. The greatest apprehension prevails, and many predict the most disastrous consequences ever resulting from flood in that section.

Dunkirk, N. Y., April 20.—The oldest inhabitant cannot remember when a storm like the present one swept over this section in the latter part of April. Already the snow is 18 inches deep and coming with greater force than ever. Great damage has been done. Fruit trees in the suburbs are stripped of limbs. Business in the city is at a standstill.

Rochester, N. Y., April 20.—Lake Ontario is raging. A fierce norther is blowing straight into the harbor at Charlotte and much damage to shipping is feared.

Port Huron, Mich., April 20.—The storm and ice have rendered the channel of affairs at Port Huron almost unprecedented.

European Jealousy of America. London, April 20.—The Spectator today says: "Every State on the Continent feels keenly the dog-in-the-manger attitude of the United States towards South America. There is no prize left on this rapidly dwindling planet like South America. Germany would like the whole of Brazil, in which she is already strong. Italy sends her children by the hundred thousand to Argentina. France would feel richer if she could acquire the hinterland of Guiana. Even Hungary would like the Balkans. The Hungarians are doing the hard work of North America, should find their homes under their own flag in Uruguay. When the European alliance against America is transmitted from hope into fact that will be full grown and armed. Americans will there find that their only ally is then half suspected kinsmen."

The Situation in South Africa. Capetown, April 20.—The Boers captured today a train containing cattle, coal, and forage on the railway near Molteno, south of Burgersdorp, in Cape Colony. The engine and cab escaped but the cars were plundered and burned.

Amsterdam, April 20.—An emissary from General Botha to President Kruger arrived today at Hilversum, where Kruger is living. He brought encouraging messages to the effect that the Boers have provisions and ammunition in abundance but are very poorly provided with boots and shoes. A train captured recently near Pretoria yielded an enormous quantity of cartridges. Transvaal Secretary of State Reitz writes that the war will last another two or three years unless England weakens of the struggle.

The Launching of Shamrock II. Dumbarton, Scotland, April 20.—Shamrock II, the yacht that will contest for the America's cup, was launched successfully at 12:40 this afternoon. The town was decorated with flags and bore all the signs of a general holiday. Spectators crowded the banks of the Clyde while the waters in the vicinity were crowded with steam and sailing craft of all kinds, thronged with interested onlookers. Two hundred prominent people arrived by a special train at noon. The marionettes of Dufferin christened the yacht, as "Shamrock II." The day was most delightful on the sun shining brightly. Sir Thomas Lipton says he is entirely satisfied with the new yacht. The general opinion held here is that the lines of Shamrock II. are so frail that the yacht will be endangered in making the passage across the Atlantic.

Finds Fault With Educational Plan. Boston, April 20.—Rev. Father Bodfish created a sensation at the annual meeting of the American Irish Historical Society of Boston last night by protesting against the elimination of priests and nuns from the schools of Cuba and Porto Rico. He said: "The nuns and priests are being driven out of the public schools and a lot of New England school marms who cannot speak the language are taking their places. There is not a single Catholic appointed in the schools. The object is to force upon the people the American system of education. The natives are forced to emigrate; their markets have been taken away; they are starving. Are we going to civilize them by exterminating them as we did the American Indians."

Foreign News.

Monte Carlo, April 20.—The receipts of the Casino here in 1900 were $355,200, a decrease of $3,000 as compared with those of 1899.

Berlin, April 20.—The Kaiser appears to have won a great victory for his favorite scheme of an Eibe to the Rhine canal. Baron Seidlitz Neukirch, who has been the leading opponent of the canal, hereafter appeared today before the canal committee of the Prussian Landtag and made a speech which caused a marked sensation. He declared that the good condition of the finances of Prussia warranted the construction of the canal.

Manila, April 20.—The first concession to Aguinaldo, the Filipino chief, was made today. He was removed from the Malacanang palace to a private house. His guard has been reduced.
